Vandalism is just a word in the dictionary that means "wilful and ignorant destruction" — until it happens close to home.

For some time now I have watched an old log house just outside of Gooderham being slowly vandalised. The old gentleman who lived there was an extremely well educated man and one who bothered no one. He left and went to live with friends in another community. It wasn't too long after he left, the windows were smashed — the doors kicked in — the interior ravished. Every time I drive by I notice a few more indignities have been heaped upon the old house.

The damage on a whole is senseless and it doesn't say much for a community that sits back and allows this type of thing to happen — and continue to happen.

Should anyone want to take up residence there again a great deal of expense faces them to repair the damage.

* * * *

Another favorite spot I've noticed for vandals are public washrooms — taps torn off the wall — toilet seats broken — mirrors broken — and all done by the very people for whom the conveniences were placed there in the first place.

There must be some explanation for what goes on in what passes for a head in these types.

A sign caught my eye the other day — just outside of Peterborough there is a riding stable — the sign amongst other things advertises — "Safe trails and gentle horses."

* * * *

Speaking of "safe trails" it is to be hoped that Highway 35 north of Minden soon gets that long-awaited face lifting — this highway is about the only one I know of that you can go in about four different directions at the same time.

When they invented seat belts, they must have had our Highway in mind.

* * * *

While on the subject of highways etc. etc. Be on your guard in Lindsay — the word "STOP" at the stop streets doesn't mean too much — at least to some of the natives.

It makes for interesting driving when you trustingly come up to an intersection and fully expect the car coming onto the main road to observe the niceties of stopping — he hesitates slightly then guns his machine out in front of you — until the Lindsay police force make sure their motorists understand that "STOP", means coming to a complete stop — life will continue to be a challenge.

* * * *

Next to the stop streets are the jockeys that "Run" the yellow light — they can sure scare the "Bejasus" out of us lads from the country.

* * * *

Someone was telling me the other day that Rev. Charles Dymond was telephoning a ministerial friend of his long distance and the operator asked him — "is this a station-to-station call?"

"No," replied Rev. Dymond — "it's parson-to-parson."

* * * *

There's not much more you can add to that — so, we'll be around next week — until then, enjoy yourselves.

MINDEN INSURANCE AGENTS TAKE IN DEBATE

it in a different view. It was definitely a moral victory for the Insurance agents, who jeered the politicians frequently, and called out, "uninformed, irresponsible, it will never work in government hands".

The NDP delegates said, "it would be cheaper than the present privately operated plan." Lorn Smith came back with, "it would cost much more." When Mr Renwick, added to the statistics with the statement that the NDP scheme could provide a payout in benefits of 85 cents of every premium dollar compared with the average 1965 Ontario experience of 67 cents. The 2000 and some odd people listening, howled derisively.

They laughed when he said the acquisition cost of insurance (the cost of selling and processing policies) could be reduced below 1 per cent from about 15.

These Politicians were trying to put a bluff over the Insurance agents and the 200 press who were in attendance, but they didn't get to first base.

The NDP leaders had their back to the wall throughout the entire debate, for they either didn't have the facts, or it was probably because they didn't have the knowledge of the insurance game. This is only understandable, for a man, any man, have all they can do, in looking after his own business, let alone someone elses.

The Minden residents who attended the debate, enjoyed themselves greatly. After the debate all took in some of Toronto's finest entertainment. Pictures will be published next week, which were taken in Toronto.

OUCH! — YOUR STEPPING ON US

We attended the debate held in Toronto last week between the New Democratic Party and the Insurance Agents Association. The debate was over the idea the NDP are trying to put over, by wanting government operated car insurance.

We talked about this same type of thing last week — welfare state or if you want to put it bluntly, the falling apart of the Democratic way of life.

Two of our local insurance agents, Floyd Hall and Mark Vasey, along with Charles Brandon and this writer attended the debate, held in the Royal York. Some two thousand other agents, visitors and at least two hundred of the press were on hand. Everyone except the Ontario NDP Leader, Donald MacDonald and James Renwick (NDP Riverdale) were against this government control of insurance. We might say from our position among the press, directly in front of the speakers, we could hear voices and whispers, yes even expressions of fear, that the politicians of today are leading us right down the garden path to disaster.

We were given all the true details and reports of the many various issues that were discussed and on reading these and listening to our NDP representatives trying to sell a bill of goods, there was no comparison in truths. How these people can run our our affairs and get elected to office is beyond me. Either they have been misinformed, or graft is greater than honesty.

We said last week in this column that eventually the government would control everything — listening to this discussion last Wednesday, we believe this more strongly than ever. You might say the NDP is not in power — well I ask this, does it matter who is in power? The same trend of thought seems to have spread throughout the entire political field.

Government controlled insurance works just like other government monopolies — everyone pays. Everyone's premiums would be increased because it is a known fact that the government never finds a cheap way to run anything. Government plans could work under ideal conditions, but in today's world, these ideal conditions are never realized. Besides the premiums and the fact that everyone has to pay — what happens to free enterprise. We will tell you what happens — they are automatically out of business, without any consideration.

There doesn't seem to be an answer to this concern of our diminishing freedom, all we seem to be saying is Ouch! Your stepping on us, and move over and accept the results.

They tell us that the people have the control, it's our government. Well, it could be so. But how do we get what we want? Our elected representatives are the ones who carry the ball. But there must be a great many of them taking back the wrong word, for we feel sure the people are not in favour of what the government is handing us each day.

I ask this, when one goes to vote — what does he do, when there is such little choice? We are all like sheep in a pasture, the wolves have got too big and strong. It would be good if one could rise high above the rest and defend our rights, giving us back our freedom, before it is too late.

Letter To The Editor

April 7, 1967

Dear Sir:

STRANGE BELIEFS

I must take issue with something that was written in your paper recently, in the question and answer section.

Question — Are the Ten Commandments dead?

Answer — Yes they are. But follow them as guidelines.

Now I cannot see the reasoning behind the writer's answer, if a thing is dead all that can be done is either bury or burn it. But the writer says "follow them as guidelines" if as he claims they are dead how can we use them as guidelines for our lives. There are many people mentioned in the daily papers who are standing in the prisoners dock hearing sentence pronounced on them just because they broke one or more of these dead things. For something that is dead they pack an awful wallop in misery and pain as these people will vouch for. Again as if this piece of contradiction was not enough he goes further and says if you are unable to keep the Ten Commandments Follow the command of Jesus "Love your neighbour" Why not take the whole of his statement, and I quote, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbour as thyself". Three of the Gospel writers quote these words almost word for word, Matt. 22: 37, Mark 12:30, Luke 10:27. In order to love one's neighbour, we must take a close look at the first part of this statement of Jesus, in fact at all Ten Commandments. Notice in reading them the first five deal with our attitude towards God, the second five with our attitude toward our fellowman, herefore to love our neighbour we must first and foremost love and honour God for love stems from God, secondly it is imperative that we observe and obey the second part. Look again and it will be seen that all the Commandments are contained in these two commands of Jesus, we cannot do the one without the other, and only in this way will we be able to practice love to our neighbour. Just to illustrate a point how would the writer feel should someone break one of these dead commandments effecting him, just how long would that particular command remain dead not too long before he would be screaming for protection. So in spite of what the writer says these Ten Commandments are just as vital, and alive and meaningful today as they were when they were first given to the people of Israel. So let us stop writing this kind of harmful propaganda as it only tends to confuse, rather than help.

WOODS, WATERS AND WILDLIFE

by James Woodford

Once upon a time there was a girl named Little Red Riding Hood. She was almost eaten alive by a wolf dressed like her grandmother. It was a big bad wolf, of course, because all wolvesin fairy stories are big and bad. Remember "Three Little Pigs" and "Peter and the Wolf?"

Most of us know these stories by heart, and if this is all a person knows about wolves, he can't help but view them as pretty bad characters.

The wolf is a carnivore — an animal that eats meat. The wolf has no other choice. He cannot live long on grass, leaves, or other vegetable matter. Unlike humans, the wolf has no one to kill his meat for him. He must do it himself, and that is where he gets into trouble.

People have three complaints against the wolf: 1) They think wolves are dangerous to humans.
2) They accuse wolves of killing cattle and other livestock. 3) They believe that wolves kill too many deer and moose and other game mammals that man likes to kill for himself.

The first of these charges is most serious — however in North America there has never been a proven case of a healthy wild wolf attacking a human being.

Some wolves do kill some livestock. However, often the livestock are killed by dogs or brush wolves (coyotes) rather than by timber wolves. The Ontario Department of Lands and Forests
now have trained predator control officers to deal with cases of degradation on livestock.

The charge that wolves kill deer and moose is the one that is most often heard in Ontario
— most recently at the meetings of the Legislative Committee on Tourism and Natural Resources.
The "anti-wolf" group see the wolf as the factor in the decline in the deer population in some scattered areas of the province.
They demand that "the wolves must be almost eliminated."

All available scientific evidence suggests that the wolf is not the most important factor in controlling deer populations — of equal import is the winter range conditions and the general forest conditions. Another factor in Ontario may be the spectacular increase of moose.

In the United States the timber wolf is listed as an "endangered species". A species is considered endangered when its habitat is threatened with destruction or when it is subject to over-exploitation, disease or predation.

The Federation of Ontario Naturalists believes that all forms of wildlife are entitled to their place in the sun. If we eliminate wolves, we set an unfortunate precedent which might encourage other fringe groups who dislike another part of our wildlife
heritage to press for its extinction.

SPORTS

WITH BOB BEENEY

Snowmobiling has taken over as the number one winter sport in the Minden Area. For many years hockey and curling held the limelight, but now
these have faded to number two and three positions
behind the ever increasing sport of snowmobile riding.

Not too many years ago when the first snowmobiles were being introduced to the area, they seemed like a real oddity and not to many people could torsee how fast these machines would become so popular. Now it almost seems an oddity if a family doesn't own one of the many brands that are sold in the town.

At first the machines were used solely for trapping or perhaps for some other need that would lessen the wasted hours that were taken up walking in the bush. But now the crafts are used mainly for pleasure.

I wouldn't know how many machines there are around town but on Winter Carnival weekend there seemed to be hundreds. The snowmobiles again made the winter carnival a success and without them the carnival would be a dull drab affair.

As in most things, when something becomes really popular then the people most interested band together and form an administrative body to combine the many people into one organization. This has happened and we now have a Minden Snowmobile Club with new capable men at the helm.

No doubt when this club is firmly on its feet it will set up some type of constitution that will govern
its members.

During the past winter the number of snowmobiles in Minden must have doubled or perhaps even tripled as could be noticed by the activity on the roads, lawns and in the bush. As the number of snowmobiles increases than therefore the activity increases and soon the machine has a chance of becoming a pest to residents in the town, if the machines are not handled in a proper manner. And when this happens laws are then made and enforced to stop the few aver zealous snowmobile riders. Then all owners of snowmobiles will suffer. This is the big reason why we are fortunate to have a club formed by such a group of responsible citizens, who I am sure will no doubt come up with a constitution that will keep the peace between the snowmobiler
and the watcher.

HI NEWS

with Dianne Earle

Happy Easter, then back to School. That was quick! Monday brought with it many surprises — pleasant and otherwise (mostly otherwise) in the form of returned Easter Examination papers. Oh well, just six more weeks and another very trying week of exams, and we're free for six or seven weeks — to work? Oh well, who's complaining? Seems summer is the highlight of the year to everyone in Haliburton County — especially we students.

So what did we do last week? We smiled feebly as our teachers handed back those good ol' exam papers, settled back into the diligent homework routine, an image upheld by every "typical" Hal Hi're, rejoined those non-hour clubs and played basketball and volleyball games at noon — while some nut went around writing dumb slogans like "Down With Apathy" all over the place.

What's he talking about anyway? Who's apathetic around good ol' HHSS?? Certainly not you, I, or the other guy! Look how much we care about the things that are important to us. Our parents have taught us to stand up for our rights and our beliefs — and our teachers, over ten or twelve hard years of drill, etc., etc. have told us all about thinking, and how to do it. So, will the real conscientious student (citizen, even?) please stand up? Down with Apathy, yourself! You're probably the same rebellious fool who's doubting our God, our Government, and even our society. Well, we know all about people like you — you don't know what you're talking about, and besides you're only a kid. Wait until you "grow up" — Then criticize — just try!

Meanwhile, we've much more important aspects of life and school life in general, to consider — like the documentary film on Hitler that 12AB History class saw last Thursday afternoon, the record that our Glee Club cut last Saturday (you can have one for a mere $4.00) and the basketball game between the boy's senior basketball team and the HHSS 'oldtimers, held in the new gym on Saturday night. And would you guess who won? The Present Senior Team by a score of 29-22. It was a good game, and well-attended. Now it's the GAA's turn for some action in the form of a

OBITUARY

ERNEST WINDOVER

There passed away on Sunday, March 26th at the Ross Memorial Hospital Lindsay after a lengthy illness a highly esteemed resident of Minden, Mr. Ernest Windover.

Mr. Windover was the son of the late John Windover and Sarah Taylor and the great great grandson of the late Zachary Taylor, President of the United States.

He was born in Lakefield, Ontario on May 19, 1893. After the death of his parents he went to Minden, Nebraska to make his home with his sister. He was of Methodist Faith, having joined the Minden Nebraska Church in his early teens, a connection which he never severed, and which was very dear to him.

He returned to Canada in 1914 and married Mary Pogue of Minden and established their home in Lindsay, later moving to Minden where, for many years until ill health prevented, they operated a summer resort business on Gull Lake, after which they retired to live in Minden.

Mr. Windover was at all times deeply concerned with the affairs of the country, and worked untiringly for the betterment of his community. He possessed a cheerful disposition and had a happy faculty for making friends. He got much out of life, and by his ready willingness to help, he will be remembered by a host of friends far and near.

The funeral conducted by Rev. Cargo was held Wednesday afternoon from Minden United Church. The large number of floral tributes was a silent testimony of the high esteem in which he was held by his many friends. He was laid to rest in the Minden Cemetery.

Remaining to mourn his passing, in addition to his wife, are four daughters, Mildred (Mrs. Lloyd King), Leona (Mrs. Alber Garden) both of Lindsay, Grace (Mrs. Harry Earle) of Minden, Jeanne (Mrs. Gary Vasey) of Bradford, one son Roy of Minden, a son Junior predeceased, ten grandchildren, and four great grandchildren. He is also survived by a brother Orville of California.

Honorary Pallbearers were: Hon. Leslie Frost, Mr. Clayton Hodgson, Mr. Glen Hodgson, Mr. William Scott, Mr. Walter Devorall, and Mr. Wilbert Worsley.

Active Pallbearers were: Mr. Morgan Prentice, Mr. Dick Kirkwood, Mr. Mark Vasey, Mr. Earl Hewitt, Mr. Pat Clarke, and Mr. Dave Stamp.

What's It All About?

by REV. JIM

The following are questions received by the editor — All questions will be accepted without signatures for this column, and answered each week.

If the commandments are dead and the thinking in the church is all changed, why do we have the same prayers and sing the same songs?

Anon

The commandment of love (which is the only absolute commandment) calls for a love of all people and gives all people freedom. This necessarily means we must love and include the past generations. They have made a contribution to the world and to the church and their hymns and prayers still assist many in our day. It would be against the law of love not to recognize these. We therefore conclude that many prayers and hymns, which seemingly contradict the present emphasis, are in order because they supply a need to some people. There are however many hymns and prayers that are not contradictory. As I have said before, "the New Morality is not so much new as that it has not been tried." The emphasis of the New Morality has always been in church literature. We expect new hymns and new prayers will become evident in the future.

What will our children learn in Sunday School with this New Morality?

Anon

I would hope that they learn that proper relationships between all people is most important. This is a difficult task for Sunday School teachers as the opposition from T.V., radio and books is tremendous. In all these there is too much emphasis on "destroying the bad guy" and "rewarding the good guy."

Love for all is the emphasis of the New Morality. Is there still a heaven and hell, or was there ever one?

Anon

I believe in heaven and it begins here on earth.

The more I learn of the love of God, the more I believe there is no hell and that there never was one. I must confess, however, that hell seems real to some people and thus conclude the possibility of hell for some people, seemingly the ones who believe and preach it. These people seem to fall short on understanding love, especially God's love. But they do seem to come to a point in their life (sooner or later) wherein they say "If God's love doesn't save me then I shall not be saved." This is man's extremity and God's opportunity to reveal his love.
